

The Count of Monte Cristo

For the first time in its 150-year history, Alexandre Dumas' epic tale of revenge is retold as a fiction podcast with a focus on its one-percenters, scheming social climbers, and the redemptive power of hope.

After a fateful meeting abroad, the enigmatic Count of Monte Cristo arrives in Paris to establish a new life. Though he soon becomes a cornerstone of high society, mysterious and tragic happenings quickly follow - threatening the Parisian upper class in unimaginable ways. As star-crossed lovers, scheming sycophants, and ambitious criminals strive for what they think they deserve, questions arise about Paris' new, fabulously wealthy resident. Not just about why the Count of Monte Cristo has come to Paris, but about the secrets that lurk behind his inscrutable facade.

"The Count of Monte Cristo" is an audio drama podcast from Little Lucky Productions. Part 1 launches on May 21, with weekly episode releases through June. Part 2 will premiere later in 2024. Episodes run approximately 30 minutes each.

Little Lucky Productions and "The Count of Monte Cristo" on Social Media:

Website: LittleLuckyProductions.com

YouTube: @tcomcpod

Instagram: @tcomcpod

TikTok: @tcomcpod

All cast and crew can be found on our website, along with transcripts, content warnings, and other information about the show.

About Little Lucky Productions

Little Lucky tells stories across all mediums and focuses on action-oriented narratives with large, diverse ensembles. Chloe Wilson is an award-winning writer/director whose work has been recognized by the Austin Film Festival. She co-created Marvel's Webby Award-winning "Wolverine" audio fiction series and has produced for Two-Up Studios (the team behind "Limetown"), Paramount, Apple TV, the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation, Nickelodeon, and other major brands.